In that email you will also have your Wallet ID number. This is practically your username on blockchain, and together with your password are your login credentials for your wallet, so remember your password, and write down your Wallet ID number and save it in a secure place, should you need it to access your wallet.
Your internet browser can remember this Wallet ID number if it is set to do so, and should it not, you can simply find this first email from blockchain, and just click on the Wallet ID number which will take you to the wallet login page, with your Wallet ID already entered.

In this tutorial we will start with the Fast Start matrix. Once you clcik on the Donate button this payment instructions page will open, telling you what amount of bitcoin you should donate, and to what address should the payment be sent. In this case it is 0.002 (exact amount, no more, no less)

To complete the payment, you will need your bitcoin wallet, with enough bitcoin in it to cover the exact amount of the donation, plus transaction fee.

You can load up your wallet with bitcoin by using the integrated exchange (not supported in all countries) or purchase bitcoin in other exchnage platforms, where you will pay with fiat currency, with your payment card for example, and the exchange will then send bitcoin to the receive address you give them)
